2018 SPONSORSHIP INFORMATION

PICCOLO SOGNO

On behalf of our Piccolo Sogno family, I am delighted to chair this year's Chef Bowl benefitting Saturday Place. I attended this event as a "Celebrity Chef" a few years ago, and met wonderful people and companies that help keep our culinary scene successful.

I am continue to be impressed with the work of Saturday Place. It's a young organization doing great work to support the education of Chicago children. And they are doing it well.

We are lining up a great complement of celebrity chefs this year, and I hope you will join us as a sponsor and come out to have a great event.

Thanks in advance for your support!

9 So what do chefs do in their spare time? Apparently, some of them bowl. Or at least they're willing to roll a few frames as part of "Chef Bowl" to raise funds for Saturday Place, an academic enrichment program for third- and fourth-grade Chicago Public Schools students performing at least one year below grade level and living in under-resourced communities. Among the participating chefs are Kevin Cuddihoe (Two), Kevin Hickey (Bottlefork/the Duck Inn), Tony Priolo (Piccolo Sogno/Piccolo Sogno Due) and Paul Virant (Me/Perennial Virant). And in case watching bowling isn't enough for you, there are hors d'oeuvres and cocktails. April 24, 2 p.m. $65. King's Bowl, 1560 N. Clybourn Ave.
